Luxite is the new discovery of science in its search for a synthetic silk. It is the climax of man's years of effort to duplicate worm-spun silk at far less cost. It has a new and amazing durability, and a lustre rivaled only by natural silk. It gives you this quality, and luxury, at one-half the cost of natural silk. That is why we offer Hose of Luxite at this store.

No fewer than 20 Barre manufacturers are affected by the collapse of the firm and the liabilities are said to be very large, considering the short time in which the concern did business. The company was incorporated last spring, with one Edward MacLane of Chicago and Ashley Smith of Hardwick as the leading promoters. A quarry and cutting plant were operated in Hardwick and for a time the company seemed to be thriving. It is said by petitioners that the sum of $5,000 collected by MacLane has not been turned over to the treasurer of the company. Through the usual medium Barre manufacturers are endeavoring to obtain whatever measure of redress may be due them.
